Re: Important COVID-19 Status Announcement Affecting Manufacturing Facilities of all Safe Fleet Businesses and Their Suppliers

Dear Valued Supplier:

In connection with the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, many U.S. state and local government authorities have been issuing orders requiring businesses other than those qualifying as “essential” or “critical” to shut down operations or substantially reduce onsite staffing. I am writing to confirm to you that, as further detailed below, the businesses of Safe Fleet Acquisition Corp. and its subsidiaries (collectively, “Safe Fleet”) satisfy the qualifying exemption criteria.

Pursuant to the “Memorandum on Identification of Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce During COVID-19 Response” issued on March 19, 2020 by the United States Department of Homeland Security (“DHS”), Safe Fleet’s operations comprise “essential” businesses serving the transportation and logistics, construction, first responder, and public works “critical infrastructure” segments.

In keeping with that public responsibility, Safe Fleet is continuing to operate our manufacturing facilities, subject to our senior corporate executive leadership team’s active and ongoing monitoring and contingency planning around any further relevant COVID-19 developments in accordance with applicable federal, state, and local health guidelines.

Please recognize, however, that Safe Fleet’s ability to fulfill our critical public safety mandate through the continued manufacture of Safe Fleet products and delivery of Safe Fleet services is highly reliant on materials, components, products, and/or services supplied by you and our other valued suppliers. DHS’s COVID-19 directive emphasizes the need for employees to continue to work at companies that support critical infrastructure as defined by DHS, and you, as a vital supplier to Safe Fleet, must be deemed to fall within that category.

Consequently, until further notice, we urgently ask that you and all of our other valued suppliers continue to fulfill Safe Fleet’s orders in the ordinary course, in keeping with the more detailed, ongoing communications issued by Safe Fleet personnel to the members of your staff governing such orders.

Please also note that Safe Fleet has provided letters to all of our personnel affirming their status as integral to the essential, critical infrastructure businesses operated by Safe Fleet. We invite you to deploy this letter from Safe Fleet as needed in support of your own personnel’s affirmation of their essential status to inquiring third parties.

Thank you for your continued cooperation and support, which are crucial to allowing Safe Fleet to perform its essential role in the critical infrastructure supply chain during this time of global crisis. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any follow-up questions concerning the above.

Regards,

Ken Koblinski,
Vice President – Supply Chain Management, Safe Fleet

Curtis L. Smith,
Vice President – Operations. Passenger Transportation, Law Enforcement and Waste, Safe Fleet
